BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Your Money's Worth In Foods Home and Garden Bulletin No. 183

How much should you spend for food? This bulletin provides the home-maker with basic information essential to planning and purchasing food for good nutrition. It tells how to plan well-balanced meals within various food budgets and suggests reasonable amounts to spend for food. The bulletin also provides meal planning guides, food shopping tips, and tools for comparing costs of food.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Poison ivy, poison oak, and poison sumac: Identification, precautions, eradication. (F 1972) 16 p. 10¢.

This revised bulletin discusses the various kinds of poison ivy, poison oak, and poison sumac; precautions against and treatment of poisoning; and ways to eradicate the plants.

Sericea lespedeza. Its use and management. (F 2245) 29 p. 25¢.

Sericea lespedeza is increasing in importance as a pasture plant in Southern States. It provides good ground cover and is widely used for seeding roadbanks in the South east. This bulletin describes the plant varieties, growing practices, and the climatic ranges and soils to which sericea is suited. It discusses management of sericea for hay, pasture, seed production, and special conservation uses. This bulletin also describes pests and diseases of the plant.

LEAFLETS

The tomato fruitworm: How to control it. (L 367) Folder. 10¢.

This leaflet discusses the life stages of the tomato fruitworm; control by means of dusts, sprays, bait, and cultural methods; what to do if other pests occur with the fruitworm; and precautions in the use of the recommended insecticides.

How to control cattle grubs. (L 527) 8 p. 10¢.

The information on treatment and pesticides recommendations is updated. Information is given on the life cycle of common cattle grubs and northern cattle grubs and on control methods with insecticides.

Mulch tillage in modern farming. (L 554) 8 p. 15¢.

This new leaflet will be of interest to farmers throughout the country, but particularly those in the Corn Belt. It describes advantages and disadvantages of mulch tillage, particularly in controlling erosion. It also discusses quantities of residue needed to control erosion and how to estimate the amount. The leaflet is illustrated with pictures of the mulch tillage operation on farms.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

Insects and related pests of house plants: How to control them. (G 67) 16 p. 10¢.

Tells how to recognize and control the most common insects and related pests that attack plants in homes and home greenhouses throughout the United States. Among the pests discussed are ants, aphids, cutworms, earthworms, fungus gnats, millipedes, scales, spider mites, springtails, and thrips. Instructions for preparing and applying insecticidal sprays and dips are included.

Growing azaleas and rhododendrons. (G 71) 8 p. 10¢.

Tells how to grow azaleas and rhododendrons. It discusses buying the plants, planting them, preparing the soil, spacing and setting the plants, mulching, watering, fertilizing, pruning, and weeding. It also gives information on controlling insects and diseases that attack the plants. The bulletin provides precautions on the use of insecticides.

Protecting woollens against clothes moths and carpet beetles. (G 113) 8 p. 20¢.

Tells how to recognize the pests, how to prevent damage by good housekeeping, mothproofing, and other protective treatments, and how to control the insects with insecticidal sprays. A color illustration is included that shows the life cycle of the black carpet beetle, furniture carpet beetle, and the webbing clothes moth.

Making basements dry. (G 115) 10 p. 10¢.

How to prevent damp or wet basements in new houses by selection of suitable building sites, proper disposal of roof water, adequate drainage, suitable wall and floor construction, and prevention of condensation are some of the points discussed in this revised bulletin. In addition, it describes waterproofing of old basements and the use of sump pumps where gravity drainage is impractical.

Selecting and financing a home. (G 182) 24 p. 15¢.

This bulletin has been prepared primarily to help families make financial decisions about housing. Analyzing housing needs—deciding whether to rent or buy—and fitting housing expenses into family budgets are topics discussed. It also describes different types of mortgage loans, gives sources of mortgage loans, and suggests ways to hold down mortgage costs.

Your money's worth in foods. (G 183) 25 p. 25¢.

See Bulletin of the Month.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED DURING MARCH-APRIL 1971

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Growing Tomatoes in the Home Garden Home and Garden Bulletin No. 180

Tomatoes are one of the most popular vegetables grown in home gardens. This bulletin tells how to choose tomato varieties; suggests best time and location for planting seeds or seedlings; and gives direction for seedlings, transplanting, care, and harvesting. It also tells how to control insects and diseases and gives precautions on the use of pesticides.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Using phenoxy herbicides effectively.
(F 2183) 24 p. 20¢.

This bulletin describes how plants react to the herbicides and explains what is meant by salts and esters and "acid equivalent." It tells how to apply the herbicides, how to test the output of the sprayer, and how to clean spray equipment.

Wild ducks on farmland in the South.
(F 2218) 14 p. 10¢.

This bulletin explains management practices. It evaluates several duck-food plants and gives useful information to farmers interested in attracting wild ducks to their farms by growing good duck food.

Water supply sources for the farmstead and rural home. (F 2237) 18 p. 15¢.

This new bulletin discusses quality and quantity of water requirements and ground and surface water sources for the farmstead and rural home.

LEAFLETS

Why fruit trees fail to bear. (L 172) Folder.

This leaflet stresses the importance of keeping fruit trees healthy. Insects and diseases are the two main problems in tree health. Other factors inhibiting growth are climate and weather and insufficient pollination.

Planting black walnut for timber. (L 487) 10 p. 10¢.

Planting procedure is given in clearly defined steps, from choice and preparation of the site, planting and spacing of seed and seedling, to the tending of the established plantation.

Background on U.S. agriculture. (L 491) Folder. 10¢.

This factual leaflet about America's largest industry, agriculture, covers three main topics; what is modern farming; what does the farmer receive; and what do we spend for food? It gives a description of American agriculture and the contribution of farming to our economy.

Office of Information.

Russian-olive for wildlife and other conservation uses. (L 517) 8 p. 10¢.

This leaflet provides instruction on the planting and care of Russian-olive and describes its uses for wildlife, living fences, farmstead and field windbreaks, and other conservation uses.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

Cabbage insects . . . how to control them in the home garden. (G 44) Folder. 10¢.

This publication discusses kinds of cabbage insects most commonly found. A chart showing kinds of insecticides, amount to use, and method of application is included.

Lawn weed control with herbicides. (G 123) 24 p. 15¢.

This bulletin explains herbicide treatment of weed grasses (crabgrass and Bermudagrass) and broadleaf weeds, the two classes of lawn weeds. It also contains illustrations and brief descriptions of 14 common lawn weeds.

Growing gardenias. (G 152) 8 p. 10¢.

This bulletin discusses the growing of gardenias outdoors, in greenhouses, and in the home. It also describes the diseases and pests that attack gardenia plants and methods of controlling insect pests.

Beekeeping for beginners. (G 158) 12 p. 15¢.

This bulletin, prepared for the beginner, provides basic information on nearly every aspect of beekeeping.

Growing tomatoes in the home garden. (G 180) 12 p. 10¢.

See Bulletin of the Month.

Mulches for your garden. (G 185) Folder. 10¢.

This new bulletin on garden mulches provides a complete source of information for flower and vegetable gardeners. Composting materials, bin construction, and chemical rates to use in making the compost are carefully detailed. Illustrated uses and methods of application for different mulches make this bulletin an excellent source for the gardener.

Equine infectious anemia. (EIA).
Sound, color, 16-mm, 16¼ minutes.

This is a disease that affects horses, mules and burros. EIA, also known as Swamp Fever, is found in all areas of the United States. Highly infectious, EIA is spread by mosquitoes, biting flies, and by use of contaminated equipment such as tack and hypodermic needles. The film clearly outlines precautionary measures and appeals to all horse owners and trainers to use utmost care with their animals. Produced in cooperation with Texas A&M University. TV cleared.

The eternal forest. Sound, color, 16-mm, 20½ minutes.

Deals with the popular subject of man and his environment—specifically forests and woodlands. The ravage of North America's primeval forests, and the gross neglect of our bountiful heritage in the years of our nation's dynamic growth and expansion, is effectively illustrated. With growing awareness of the extent of depletion, the film describes the effects to restore nature's balance which began at the turn of the Century. Today's sensible balance between use of our forest's resources, and their protection for future generations, is highlighted at the conclusion of the picture. Narrated by Gregory Peck. TV cleared.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED DURING MAY-JUNE 1971

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Interior Painting in Homes and Around the Farm Home and Garden Bulletin No. 184

This bulletin tells how to select and apply paint to the interiors of homes and to walls of farm service buildings. For attractive, long-lasting paint jobs the bulletin recommends the use of good-quality paint, proper preparation of the surface to be painted, and correct application of paint. It also discusses equipment needed and provides tips on safety and cleanup.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Strawberry insects . . . how to control them. (F 2184) 17 p. 20¢.

This publication describes the appearance, development, and habits of insects and related pests that commonly attack strawberries. It also tells how to control them with insecticides and good cultural practices.

Commercial growing of asparagus. (F 2232) 22 p. 15¢.

This bulletin tells how to grow asparagus for use as a fresh vegetable and as a canned or frozen product. It explains climatic and soil requirements, cultural practices, and preparation of the crop for market. It also describes pests and diseases that damage asparagus and suggests methods, such as the use of insecticides, by which these can be controlled.

LEAFLETS

Control of apple tree borers. (L 274) 8 p. 10¢.

Office of Information.

The flatheaded apple tree borer, the roundheaded apple tree borer, and the shot-hole borer are serious pests of apple trees and may attack other fruit trees. This leaflet tells how to recognize each of the borers by its appearance and by the injury that it causes. It also tells about their habits and how and when to apply control measures for best results. Precautions are given for using insecticides.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

Storing perishable foods in the home. (G 78) 9 p. 10¢.

Fresh perishable foods should be used soon after harvest or purchase, or stored at the right temperature and humidity. This bulletin gives homemakers specific directions on how to handle and prepare for storage, and how to store a wide variety of foods. It also tells how long many of the foods may be stored.

Controlling fleas. (G 121) 6 p. 10¢.

This updated publication discusses control of fleas by use of insecticides. It recommends specific insecticides and methods of application for fleas on animals, such as dogs, cats, and chickens; fleas in animal quarters and yards, and fleas in homes. It also tells where fleas breed, lists the most common kinds, and briefly discusses their development. Interior painting in homes and around the farm. (G 184) 12 p. 10¢.

See Bulletin of the Month.

Indoor gardens with controlled lighting. (G 187) 22 p. 15¢.

An indoor garden is a planter equipped with fluorescent lamps. This bulletin provides plans for seven types of indoor gardens. It tells how to select a location, how to stock the garden, and how to care for it.

Growing ornamentals in urban gardens. (G 188) 22 p. 15¢.

This new bulletin gives specific information on the kinds of plants that will grow in an urban environment, methods and techniques used to grow them, and the protection plants need to survive. The sections on fertilizing, watering, and mulching give valuable, essential facts that can be used by all home gardeners. Information on poor growing conditions and air pollution problems is also included.

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Fences for the Farm and Rural Home
Farmers' Bulletin No. 2247

On many farms fences represent a large investment. They should be planned carefully. This bulletin describes the kinds of fences commonly used on farms and tells how to select fences suitable for specific uses. Step-by-step methods for layout and clearing the fence line are given. Design, styles, construction, preservative treatment and coatings, and assembly are a few of the topics mentioned in this bulletin.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Making and preserving apple cider.
(F 2125) 14 p. 10¢.

Apple cider can be an important and profitable source of income to apple-growers throughout the country. This bulletin gives information on selecting and blending the apples, grading and washing the fruit, grinding and pressing it. It also tells how to preserve the juice by refrigeration, freezing, pasteurization, or chemicals and the kind of containers to use. Information on plant design and equipment, sanitation, and fly control is included.

Beef cattle: Dehorning, castrating, branding, and marking. (F 2141) 16 p. 10¢.

This bulletin describes methods and techniques for dehorning, castrating and spraying, branding, and marking beef cattle and tells why these operations are desirable or necessary. The section on dehorning gives instructions for dehorning both calves and older cattle. The section on branding includes information on age at which to brand, methods of branding, types of irons, and applying the brands. The methods of marking cattle that are discussed are cutting the ears, tattooing, ear tagging, and neck chains. Some dehorning and branding chutes are described and illustrated.

Muscadine grapes—a fruit for the South. (F 2157) 14 p. 10¢

Gardeners will be interested in this bulletin because growing muscadine grapes is not limited to just commercial production; muscadine grapes do equally well in home gardens, because they are seldom affected by disease or insects, and control measures are seldom needed. Attention is called to the wide use of these grapes. They are a highly prized fresh fruit in the regions where they are grown. They are also used as unfermented juices, pies, jellies, sauces, and wines.

Controlling diseases of raspberries and blackberries. (F 2208) 13 p. 15¢.

Major diseases which may afflict raspberries and blackberries are described in this revised bulletin, and control information is brought up-to-date. It includes information on cultural and chemical control of these diseases, and also provides new information on nematode damage and control.

Fences for the farm and rural home. (F 2247) 26 p. 25¢.

See Bulletin of the Month.

LEAFLETS

Growing crimson clover. (L 482) 10 p.

Crimson clover is the most important winter annual legume for the South. Besides being an excellent pasture and hay crop, crimson clover covers the soil and protects it against washing and leaching during the fall, winter, and spring. This leaflet describes varieties of the plant and gives instructions on inoculating seed, preparing the seedbed, rate and time of seeding, fertilizing, and harvesting. Information on adaptation, grazing, green manuring, and seed production is also included.

Periodical cicadas "17-year locusts". (L 540) 8 p.

Periodical cicadas, often erroneously called 17-year locusts, are widely distributed over the eastern half of the United States. They make sudden springtime appearances at intervals of 13 or 17 years. This leaflet describes the various species of periodical cicadas and discusses their development. It tells about the damage done by cicadas, how to minimize this damage, and how to control the cicadas.

HOME AND GARDEN BULLETINS

Insects and diseases of vegetables in the home garden. (G 46) 50 p. 40¢.

This bulletin has been prepared for home gardeners. It tells how to recognize the more common insects and diseases that attack vegetables, and how to prevent the damage they cause. Better lawns. (G 51) 30 p. 25¢.

You don't have to be an expert to grow a good lawn. But you do have to adhere to sound establishment and maintenance practices. This bulletin describes how to prepare a lawn for planting and follows through with information on how to plant, fertilize, water, and mow. Many lawn problems are discussed and solutions offered.

Growing camellias. (G 86) 12 p. 15¢.

This bulletin describes the kinds of camellias and discusses how to select, plant, and care for them and ways to protect the plants against insects and diseases. Also includes information on growing camellias as potted plants.

Eggs in family meals: A guide for consumers. (G 103) 29 p. 20¢.

A publication which will be useful to every homemaker, "Eggs in Family Meals," discusses the buying, storing, and use of shell eggs and dried egg solids. It lists recipes using eggs for five categories of foods, including main dishes, salads, and desserts. It also identifies commercially frozen egg products and tells how to keep and use frozen eggs.

Growing the Bradford ornamental pear. (G 154) 7 p. 10¢.

The Bradford ornamental pear has been called "the tree for all seasons" because of its ability to stage a succession of ornamental displays from March to November. This bulletin discusses the discovery, development, adaptation, and culture of the Bradford pear as an ornamental.

BULLETIN OF THE MONTH

Vegetables in Family Meals—A Guide for Consumers
Home and Garden Bulletin No. 105

This revised bulletin tells how to select, store, and use fresh, frozen, canned, and dried vegetables. It includes up-to-date principles of vegetable cookery. Simplified recipes feature vegetables in main dishes, soups, salads, and snacks.

FARMERS' BULLETINS

Control of caterpillars on commercial cabbage and other cole crops in the South. (F 2099) 24 p. 20¢.

This bulletin describes the different kinds of caterpillars, how they damage plants, when and where they occur, and how to control them.

Growing blackberries. (F 2160) 18 p. 15¢.

To get the greatest yield and longest productive life from the blackberry plantation, the grower should choose types and varieties that are adapted to his area, prepare the soil thoroughly, plant only highest quality stock, cultivate frequently, apply fertilizer every year, thin out all weak canes and suckers, and protect plants from insects, diseases, and winter injury. This bulletin gives growers the information and instructions they need to carry out these practices.

Commercial strawberry growing in the Pacific Coast States. (F 2236) 22 p. 20¢.

This bulletin describes where the various varieties of strawberries are grown on the Pacific Coast and discusses methods of culture, harvesting, and marketing.

Growing cauliflower and broccoli. (F 2239) 12 p. 15¢.

This bulletin describes the varieties of cauliflower and broccoli. Planting, fertilizing, harvesting, and packing procedures are explained. Insects and diseases which destroy cauliflower and broccoli are described and preventative measures are outlined.

Credit, a capital idea. Sound, color, 16m, 13½ minutes.

In this fully-animated film, a modern farmer is transformed into a delightful cartoon character—a big game hunter who goes on safari through the financial jungle in search of the elusive quarry of profits. Sprinkled throughout with light humor, the educational film establishes the path our farmer-hunter must follow to bag profits from his farming operation. Tips on how to use credit profitably is the design of this film. And while it is primarily directed at the wise use of credit in agriculture, the principles explained are applicable to borrowing in other businesses and to personal finances. TV cleared.
